Mount Pleasant CPA Firm Celebrates Doug Mackintosh's Leadership Charleston Graduation

Mount Pleasant, South Carolina
July 2016

Certified Public Accountant Doug Mackintosh has been named a graduate of the renowned Leadership Charleston program. Mackintosh and 55 other professionals from the tri-county area completed the Charleston Metro Chamber of Commerce's 10-month professional program that explores the influences behind Lowcountry business and community. This year's graduates represent the 42nd annual Leadership Charleston class.

"Our team is proud of Doug and all the other leaders for taking the initiative to expand their understanding and experience of the critical issues facing Charleston's economy today," said L+B+H Member Joe Hinske. "I am confident Doug's efforts will give our clients better insight on what's to come along with a more competitive edge on the market."

The program delves into realities, opportunities and challenges impacting the local economy through presentations from community influencers, group discussion, and onsite visits to regional assets. The curriculum calls for participants to examine leadership roles and potential for growth in political, social and economic affairs.

"Leadership Charleston was a great opportunity to broaden my insight and appreciation of the entire Charleston region. The open dialogue and engaging participation from so many community leaders truly instilled a solid foundation to help me positively impact our community," shared Mackintosh.

Mackintosh joined L+B+H in 2014 as a CPA. He is an active member of Charleston Young Professionals. He holds a Masters of Accounting degree from Western Carolina University and a Bachelor of Science in accounting from Appalachian State University.
